The school has expanded from a single building into a spacious and beautiful campus adorned with over a score of buildings, including the original main building constructed in 1859. Hopefully a Student Center, much needed additional vocational facilities, and a modernized Infirmary (the present Infirmary does not meet in many respects the minimum requirements of the State Health Department) will be added in the near future.

Prior to the establishment of the State School, South Carolina had provided an allotment for deaf and blind children; deaf children attended the Hartford Institution in Connecticut, while blind children attended the School for the Blind in Boston. In 1848 this Act was amended to provide the sum of $100.00 per student per annum to be paid to N. P. Walker in support of his efforts. From an incipient class of five deaf pupils under one instructor, the school has grown to its present capacity enrollment of 569 and a staff of over 250. The school's population during the year was as follows:

School for the Deaf	381
School for the Blind	168
School for Aphasics	20
TOTAL	569

The total amount of money spent during the fiscal year of 1970-71 was $1,911,204.00. Of this amount $1,674,336.00 was appropriated by the State of South Carolina and $236,868.00 was from various federal programs.

The federal money during the year provided summer school for the deaf, blind, and aphasic children; remedial classes for speech development and special instruction to older students with little or no previous academic work; purchased hearing aid equipment; four busses so more area students could attend Cedar Spring; and library books for all students.

Mr. Broadus R. Littlejohn of Spartanburg, member of the Board of Commissioners since June 15, 1950, resigned on September 10, 1970. During the years that Mr. Littlejohn served on the Board, he gave most generously of his time, always keeping upmost in his mind what would be best for the deaf, the blind and the aphasic children of South Carolina at Cedar Spring. Mr. Littlejohn has been and will continue to be greatly missed. I wish to express my personal appreciation to him for all of the fine advice and counsel given to me over the years.

On March 1, 1971, groundbreaking ceremonies were held to begin three new buildings at the school. Construction was begun on a new classroom building, a new dormitory building and a new central kitchen building along with renovations of existing dining room facilities. The total cost of the contract was $1,102,839.24. Lockwood Greene Engineers, Inc. of Spartanburg, was the architect and Cecil's, Inc. of Spartanburg, was the low general construction bidder. The Hood Hotel Supply Corporation of Charlotte, North Carolina, was awarded the kitchen equipment contract. The central kitchen and dining room facilities completion date was set for August 10, 1971 with December 1, 1971, as the completion date for both the classroom and dormitory building.

The appropriation act of 1971 carried two items of particular interest. The first was an item of $22,000.00 for a pilot program for weekend busing of students to their homes. This pilot program will provide only for a small number of our students, but if it proves to be successful, it is hoped that this can be expanded rapidly in the future to include most, if not all, of our children at the school. We feel that this is an important step in the right direction as the administration desires to strengthen in every way the home ties of our students. The other item of particular interest was one of $2,000.00 for the planning of a swimming pool and recreational facility at Cedar Spring. It is hoped, also, that this will be followed up with the appropriation of the money to provide our students with a much needed swimming pool and recreational facilities that are at the present time nonexistent.

The reports of my colleagues in the following pages of this report point up more poignantly than I can the activities and progress which have been made at Cedar Spring throughout the past fiscal year. These activities and progress make it clear that there has been a fine coordinated effort among all personnel at the school to give to our blind, our deaf and our aphasic students a better moral and educational background in order that they may cope more successfully with their adult life in this modern and complex world. I wish, therefore, publicly to express my thanks to each and every employee at the school and to all persons and groups throughout the State, who have made it possible for this fiscal year to be a most worthwhile and profitable one for all of our students at Cedar Spring.

The Honorable James R. Mann, Congressman of the Fourth District of South Carolina, was our speaker for commencement held on May 26, 1971, in Walker Hall Auditorium. It was indeed an honor and a pleasure to have Congressman Mann with us on this occasion. We were honored, not only because of his being the Congressman from our District, but because Mrs. Virginia Brunson Mann, his wife, is a descendant of the Thomson family, who for many years were prominent in the education of the deaf in the United States. REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

Except for only slight variations, the number of faculty members and the number of students in the Department for the Blind 1970-71 session was approximately the same as last year's. However, several new people joined our faculty: Mr. S. Keith Ammons came as the new Supervising Teacher, Mrs. Viola Kilgore, Mrs. Betty Ruth Smith, Mrs. Sara Reece, and Mr. Gerald Sanders joined the faculty as teachers or teacher-aides. Including all areas, the faculty now numbers 28 full time teachers, six part time teachers, 2 teacher aides and one library aide. When school opened, we had 167 pupils. We had fewer withdrawals than usual; one returned home because of illness, one returned to a public school, and two older boys joined the Commission for the Blind's work-evaluation program. We had five graduates in addition to three of our students graduating from Spartanburg High School. We will have only one student attending Spartanburg High School next year. We are very proud to mention that one of our former graduates was graduated from Fuman University in May with honors and also won a Humanitarian Award, one of the University's highest awards.

Physical education continues to be a vital part of our training blind children. The results of the obstacle course, started two years ago, are most gratifying. It is very evident that the equilibrium and coordination of those participating in the course have greatly improved. Every year all pupils take the physical fitness tests. This year the Arthur White Awards for the greatest improvement in physical fitness were won by Donna Bowers and Danny Thomas. From time to time we try to add more and more equipment for physical education. This year we added a skating rink. It was surprising how many children learned to skate, and whose mobility was improved because of this accomplishment. One of our students, Terry Ferguson, who has partial vision, brought honor to our school by his participation on the school's track team. Beaten only once during the regular track season by a Class AAA student, Terry placed first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes in the State Class A track meet. In addition to these wins, he was a member of the 880 yard relay team which placed third in the State Meet.

In addition to the physical fitness awards, there were others for various areas of achievement. Mr. Hubert E. Smith of Ways and Means for the Blind in Augusta, Georgia, gives, in Dr. Fred Crawford's honor, three monetary awards for the most original pieces of writing. They were won by Lynn Barker, Myra Pacenka and Harold Phillips. Three other monetary awards were given for the first time by the Charleston Chapter of the Aurora Club: Tommy Bilton won the award for the most outstanding in academic achievement; Mark Spires won for the highest average in one school term, and Larry Mayfield won for the greatest improvement for one school term based on achievement test scores.

Achievement tests are administered each year. This year the pupils marked the answers in the book rather than write them on a separate sheet of paper. This method was not only less tiring but, less time consuming.

As time goes on, we try in every way to improve the efficiency of our teachers by providing courses on the campus for the teachers' convenience. As a follow up to last year's course on the Physiology and Anatomy of the Eye, the University of South Carolina again sponsored a graduate course in Braille. Fifteen faculty members and three outsiders were enrolled. As well as trying to improve the efficiency of our teachers, we try to add to the equipment to aid them in their teaching. As our budget permits, we continue to make additions to our library. This year we spent $500.00 for large print books; $400.00 for braille books and $1,000.00 for talking book records.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Federal funds were used during the summer of 1970 to conduct classes for intermediate age, hearing impaired students. This was the initial year in providing summer classes for this age group. A total of seventy students participated in a very worthwhile academic program that emphasized growth in the subject areas of language, social studies and reading.

The 1970-71 academic year began on Tuesday, August 25 with no significant change from the previous years' enrollment.

In Thackston Hall, which houses our youngest children, an effort was made to keep class periods short and interesting by using highly motivating type activities. Where, but in Thackston Hall, will you see a teacher crawling on the floor to show how a turtle moves, fluttering across the room with outspread arms to demonstrate the flight of an airplane, or with fingers rabbit-eared to the side of her head, hopping about at Easter time? We were fortunate to again have the means to strengthen our basic program by having play therapy classes, rhythm classes, individual speech developmental sessions, and physical education classes. Federal monies permitted us to employ three teacher aides in the School for the Deaf and this proved to be a plus factor in the 1970-71 school year.

One hundred forty two pupils were enrolled in classes at Spring Hall this year which encompasses first through fourth grades. Each student was given the Stanford Achievement Test. These tests, when properly administered, give the teachers some insights on each pupil and helps them to better understand the students' problems. Behavior Modification was introduced in several classrooms where there were difficulties arising from poor behavior. Our school psychologist eagerly gave assistance to classroom teachers upon request. A concentrated effort was made by the twelve teachers at Spring Hall to improve the communication skills of their pupils by fingerspelling to the students and requiring straight language in response from the students. Opportunities for educational field trips were available for all the classes and much first-hand knowledge was gained from these experiences.

Walker Hall houses all academic classes for students aged 14 and above, noticeable improvements were made in this area of the school. Additional Audio-Visual materials were secured from Caption Films for the Deaf, increasing the involvement of teacher and student in working with these motivating materials. Moral instructing classes were conducted on a weekly basis and it was felt in general, that by scheduling this time during a week day, that all students had the opportunity to participate, if so desired. Classes were held in Social Hygiene during the first semester and valuable knowledge was given to our young men and women about their bodies, dating, marriage, and reproduction. We offered advance reading classes for our better high school students and by improvement in the area of reading skills progress was shown in overall reading abilities. Much time was spent this year concentrating on practical exercises with our seniors involving things such as banking, taxes, and financing of various appliances. The enthusiasm shown by the students justified the time and effort trying to prepare them for life outside the residential school.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

The Walker Literary Society consisted of seventy members and four sponsors meeting once a month. During the year there was a literary contest, skit contest, panel discussions, and guest speakers. The main activity of the club was the presentation of the annual Christmas play. The play, The Littlest Angel, was given this year. It was such a success that the cast was asked to present it for a second time to the entire student body the day school closed for Christmas. The year was ended with a party in honor of the seniors.

The Junior National Association of the Deaf has chapters in schools for the deaf throughout the United States. Basically, its objectives are to provide the young deaf people training in citizenship, an opportunity to contribute to community growth and development, and a medium for self directed utilization of their potential. The ultimate goal is to safeguard and promote independent living and self-determination of all deaf people in America.

The Jr. NAD members gave a very delightful Halloween party for the younger deaf children in Thackston Hall. Refreshments were served and it was a happy social event for the members and guests. Another party was given at Christmas for the intermediate age students at Spring Hall. The highlight of the year was the visit to our campus by Mr. Frank Turk, Assistant Dean of Men at Gallaudet College. Mr. Turk, the National Director of the Junior NAD, spoke to the high school student body on March 26. Various projects were carried on throughout the year and profits from these projects are being used to send a representative from our chapter to the Jr. NAD Leadership Training Camp in Pengilly, Minnesota.

During the 1970-71 school year a Student Council was formed for the first time in the School for the Deaf. The purposes are to promote a cooperative relationship between all students and employees of our school, to give the student body experiences in directing school activities, to help unify the student body, recognize its needs, and to develop attitudes of, and practice in, good citizenship. Some of the ideas suggested and carried through this year were:

1. Improvements in the relationship with dining room personnel and student helpers.
2. The milk problem was solved.
3. Smoking in the canteen was permitted.
4. An outdoor grill was built which can be used by students.
5. Civic project of cleaning the cemetery was carried out.
6. Requests for additional washing machines and dryers will be met in the fall on 1971.

The main goal of the Student Council was accomplished. There is now better communication between students and administration, resulting in a sharp decrease in frustrated students because they now have a place to air what's on their mind.

Twenty Boy Scouts attended the Fifth Biennial Camporee for the Deaf Scouts and Explorers. This was the first time South Carolina participated in this rewarding experience. The Camporee was held in the Shenandoah National Park in the state of Virginia. Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, North Carolina (Wilson), North Carolina (Morganton), South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, all sent Scouts from their schools.

The South Carolina Scouts won two blue ribbons and a red ribbon for their efforts at the Camporee. A Deaf Scout Camporee provides an excellent opportunity for boys to work as a team in competition with other students who have similar handicapping conditions. It is a way that deaf Scouts and leaders can show their skills and learn new tips on developing a more successful program in their home schools. A beautiful plaque was made by our Scouts to present to Jack Thompson, Director of the Camporee, in appreciation for his countless hours of work in planning for the Camporee. Missouri will be the host school in 1973 and South Carolina would like to have another enriching experience of being a part of a wonderful week in Scouting.

ATHLETICS

During the 1970-71 school year we fielded varsity teams in football, boys' basketball, girls' basketball, and track. The football season was somewhat of a disappointment because of losing two games by one touchdown. We felt these games should have been victories. The season record was 2 wins and 7 losses. The bright spot of the season was the selection of John Way by the "Columbia State" as an All-State Class A linebacker. John is the first deaf player in South Carolina to be named to an All-State Football Squad. He was chosen as the MVP for the 1970 season.

The "Hornets" basketball team posted a very outstanding record of 13 wins and 10 losses placing third in the Mason-Dixon Tournament and third in the Conference. Clifford Boyd and Bobby Parker were named to the All-Tournament Team and Bobby Parker was selected on the All-Conference Team. Clifford Boyd received the MVP Trophy at the Athletic Banquet on May 1.

A successful basketball season followed by a successful track team culminated the sports scene at SCSD. The track team placed third in the State Championship Meet held at the University of South Carolina. Ten of our track members qualified for the Upper State Championship held in Irmo, South Carolina and all ten boys had excellent times and moved on to the state finals. Terry Ferguson, a student in the School for the Blind, won two individual state championships in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Jack Milton won second in the long jump at the state finals and both Terry and Jack broke school records. Everyone connected with the school is very proud of the entire track team which brought honors to South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind, as well as individual pride in their efforts.

A number of teachers will be attending school this summer, taking course work in deaf education. I feel that professional growth is a must for continued success in the School for the Deaf and all faculty members are encouraged to further their educational endeavors.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL FOR APHASICS

This ninth year of operation at the Aphasic School has emphasized increased individualized instruction and therapy for each of the twenty students. The psychology department has worked very closely with the school planning various programs to meet the specific needs of the children. By means of behavior modification techniques, many of the children have shown much improvement.

One new child was admitted to the program in October to fill a vacancy created by the successful placement of a former student into the public school system in his hometown.

A six weeks program was conducted during the summer of 1970, utilizing Title I funds. Fifteen students participated. The program stressed speech improvement, socialization, and recreation. A study was conducted to measure speech intelligibility and all participants showed improvement.

The year's curriculum has revolved around language development. The school employs a speech teacher, four classroom teachers, and a teacher's aide. Utilizing a low teacher-pupil ratio and a full time speech teacher, all the children in the program were involved in a comprehensive program designed to meet the academic needs of the Aphasic Child. Several students have completed vocational courses offered at the Deaf School. All have done above average work.

Ten students were given weekly dancing lessons by a local dance instructor, Mrs. Marion Feinstein. This instruction was of particular therapeutic value to the cerebral palsied children and an enjoyable activity for all involved.

Various field trips and special activities supplemented the learning experiences of the classroom. These included a trip to a dairy farm, supervised swimming at Converse College, a puppet show, attendance at the county fair, cook-outs, a dance recital, and a physical education program, highlighted by a track meet and an awards day.

A four weeks program for the summer of 1971 has been planned. Twenty children, including waiting list applicants, will participate. This will emphasize a language development program as well as directed recreation. Behavior modification will be employed.

Significant progress has been made this year and we are looking forward to the summer program and the coming year.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE TEACHER'S EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The 1970-1971 school term marks the twenty-second anniversary of the teacher training program offered jointly by Converse College and the South Carolina School for the Deaf, and endorsed by the Council on the Education of the Deaf, Inc.

Dr. Spencer Mathews, Professor of Psychology at Converse College, was appointed by the Dean of Faculty as advisor to the students enrolled in the teacher training course. Dr. Mathews has been a great asset to the program. He has been most helpful to both the students and myself with regard to academic matters.

In last year's report we outlined the major revisions made in our program. The principal change was that the students enrolled in the program be required to take a sufficient number of hours in general education to meet the certification requirements prescribed by the state in which they planned to teach. This year an additional course was added to the curriculum, making it possible for the students to observe an additional number of hours on each academic level and also to serve as student aides in the classrooms. This additional observation and teacher aide work was, in our opinion, very helpful to our students. Even greater progress is anticipated next year as Converse is adopting the 4-2-4 academic calendar year which will permit six full weeks of practice teaching in the interim period. Observation is scheduled for the fall term.

Two field trips were made this year. The first was a two-day workshop on Cued Speech presented in Columbia by Mr. Van Porter of the State Department of Education. The second was a visit to the Eastern North Carolina School for the Deaf at Wilson, North Carolina.

Mr. Doyle Ayers, head of the educational media department of the South Carolina School for the Deaf, presented several lectures on the use of educational media in the classroom. Students were given the opportunity to work with various types of audio-visual aids under Mr. Ayers' direction.

Two of our seniors, Mary Deborah Daniel of Macon, Georgia, and Claire Morrison of Charlotte, N. C., were graduated with Distinction in Course and both accepted the invitation to membership in Gamma Sigma, National Honor Society. The five other members of the graduating class were: Roberta T. Daniel, Mullins, S. C.; Evelyn Kennedy, Burlington, N. C.; Eugenia Smith, Birmingham, Alabama; Victoria Vann, Trenton, S. C.;

and Ruth S. Walston, Wilson, N. C. All of these girls received their B.A. Degrees.

Four of this year's graduates have accepted teaching positions for the coming school year. Roberta Daniel has accepted a position as a first grade teacher in the Memminger Public School for the Deaf in Charleston, S. C.; Mary Deborah Daniel will teach at the Houston Speech and Hearing School in Warner Robbins, Ga.; Victoria Vann has been appointed to the staff of the Charleston Speech and Hearing Clinic at the Medical Center; and Ruth Walston will teach pre-school children in a public school program in Charlottesville, Virginia. Claire Morrison has been accepted by the Graduate School of Vanderbilt University and will major in the field of Audiology. Evelyn Kennedy plans to live in Atlanta, but has not yet found a position in the field of education for the deaf. Eugenia Smith's plans are indefinite.

The nine juniors enrolled in our program this year were: Sally Thatcher Barton, Douglaston, New York; Caroline Elizabeth Dawson, Florence, S. C.; Leila Jan Greiner, Florence, S.C.; Mary Barron Grier, Arlington, Va.; Georgia Fontaine Heald, Boytown, Texas; Sarah Elizabeth Jones, Richmond, Virginia; Nancy Merrill Smith, Holliston, Massachusetts, and Elizabeth Jervey Stone, Greenville, S. C.

Including the members of the class of 1971, a total of 132 teachers have graduated from the program since it was inaugurated in 1949. We are proud of the fact that a large proportion of our graduates are teaching the deaf.

A critical shortage of trained teachers still exists in South Carolina as well as throughout the entire country. It is for this reason that the South Carolina School for the Deaf continues to present in-service courses during the summer months. Six students were enrolled in the course last summer. Credit for these courses is granted by Converse College.

While there is a need for further development of our teacher training program as well as additional staff, we are proud of the progress that has been made during the last few years. We are especially pleased with the reports that have come to us of the fine reputations our graduates have made for themselves both in the teaching field and in graduate schools.

REPORT OF THE HEARING CONSULTANT

This report covers the main areas of progress made in the Audiology Department during the last year, Mr. Buddy Burgess was hired as Audiological Assistant at the beginning of the school year. He has been a great asset to our program in that he has accepted complete responsibility for the work assigned him and has established excellent rapport with our students.

One hundred and ninety-five students used hearing aids this year. The enrollment of deaf children and aphasic children totaled 401 this year; therefore, the number of students using aids was almost half of the total deaf and aphasic population. The 195 aids is an increase of 53 over the number of aids used during the 1969-1970 school term.

Twenty-six students were fitted with hearing aids at the school. A recommendation for a hearing aid fitting was made only after a complete audiological assessment of each child's hearing impairment. As much auditory training as time permitted was given each child by Mr. Burgess and myself.

We were most fortunate to have unlimited financial assistance from both the S. C. Vocational Rehabilitation Department and the Crippled Children's Division of the State Board of Health for the purchase of hearing aids for students eligible for this help.

A breakdown of the sources supplying funds for the procurement of hearing aids is as follows:

Crippled Childrens Division of the State Board of Health	14
Vocational Rehabilitation	5
Parents	5
Private Donor	2

We would like to express our appreciation for the wonderful cooperation we have received from the Crippled Children's Division and Vocational Rehabilitation.

The Pilot Club of Spartanburg has continued its project of assisting indigent students at the school in this area of rehabilitation. The Club contributed $300.00 to the hearing aid fund this year. The Hillandale Acres Community Club of Greenville, S. C. donated $100.00. The money donated by the two clubs has been used for maintenance, repairs, and the purchase of ear molds, batteries, and cords for needy students. We are grateful to both clubs for their interest and generosity.

For the first time ear mold impressions were made for the children by our own staff. Approximately 250 students were tested this year. The school participated in the National Census for Hearing Impaired Youth project initiated two years ago by Gallaudet College under a federal grant.

Nearly all of the classes in the primary department for the blind were tested by the Converse College training students under Mr. Burgess' supervision.

There is an urgent need for additional auditory training for those students who are using hearing aids. In order for a hearing aid to be truly functional, it is essential for the majority of deaf children to have consistent and meaningful auditory training. At the present time, due to lack of staff and training, I feel that our students are not getting a sufficient amount of auditory training to ensure maximum benefit from their aids. We were pleased to hear that speech therapists from the Spartanburg Speech and Hearing Clinic will offer speech and hearing therapy to our advanced students next year. This project was initiated by Mr. Larry Harrelson, Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor and Coordinator, and is being funded by the federal government.

In summary, we feel that we have made considerable progress in several areas this year. The addition of Mr. Burgess to the staff has made it possible to improve and expand our services to the children. We feel confident that we can more fully meet the audiological needs of our children next year.

REPORT OF THE PSYCHOLOGIST

This report marks the end of my second year at this school. I have been able to see the fruit of my first year's work develop into programs. On October 26 Miss Elaine Talbert was hired as a psychological assistant. With her very capable help, we were able to institute and carry out a greater variety of psychological services.

Since counseling and behavior change are methods of alleviating emotional and behavior problems, this was quite a successful year. This report last year stated that we introduced 35 children to counseling services. This year we have provided counseling to 95 deaf, blind or aphasic children. Group counseling was also initiated for deaf clients as well as blind clients. This proved to be a highly successful project with Mrs. Phyllis Petty, a very skilled teacher, interpreter and counselor, assisting with group counseling for the deaf. This type of counseling with the deaf has been shown to provide social insight and practice in abstract reasoning—two areas in which the deaf are poor.

Complete psychological evaluations, consisting of an intellectual evaluation with its various ability areas, personality evaluation and recommendations, were administered to approximately 80 students this year. This includes the 27 deaf graduating seniors. These evaluations, after having been written, were sent to the Superintendent's Office. Copies of the senior evaluations were sent to the Vocational Rehabilitation Office for their records. This department has also tested 14 children who were being considered for admission to the Deaf, Blind or Aphasic Schools.

This year this department profited from pilot research that it carried out last year by being able to expand its services directly to teachers and students through behavior modification. This relatively new technique was shown to be adaptable to the type of student at this school and this year it has benefited approximately 57 students. A description of some of these programs was published in the spring issue of South Carolina Schools magazine.

A behavior modification program was designed to utilize a token economy system at the Aphasic School last summer that reinforced and, thus, emphasized speech. This program made use of volunteers who had no formal training in teaching speech. Complete and detailed records were kept and the student's voices were recorded each week. These recordings were evaluated later by random individuals who did not know the students. To date, this research seems to indicate that this method of making the student responsible for using speech is very effective.

This department has also been involved with consultations involving teachers, supervising teachers, principals, parents and the Superintendent regarding various psychological matters. It is felt that consultation and counseling with the parents of the children at our school is a very necessary part of the overall academic and social education of the children for whom we are responsible.

Finally, it has been due to the excellent cooperation of the faculty and staff of this school to which we must give the real credit for the success of our program.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

On May 7 of this year the State Federation of Music Clubs Convention was held in Blackman Music Building at Converse College and the Cedar Spring Chorus gave a concert which was well received by representatives of this organization from all over the State. This was a First for the Chorus because of the difficulties of transportation for so many students. Under the direction of Mr. John E. Williams the Chorus has increased in numbers as well as in quality of performance. They have sung a number of times on the campus as well as away and always with appreciation on the part of the audience.

On the occasion of this concert for the Federation, Mrs. Harold E. Jervey of Columbia was honored for her interest of so many years in our blind students in music and for her work in their behalf. She was presented with a citation outlining her work and presented with a plaque. It was also announced that the Federation project for the Blind will be known henceforth as the Stella Jervey project for the Blind. It is our pleasure also to express appreciation to Mrs. Jervey and to be happy that her work is recognized in this way.

The Florence Thornwell Award presented by Mrs. Martha Scott of Greenville was given to two outstanding students this year: Miss Marlene Black of Greenville and Miss Lynn Barker of Red Bank, S. C. Both of these students will be missed next year because they were members of the graduating class.

Mrs. Martha Scott has also arranged for our students to hear several very fine concerts in Greenville this year and we are indebted to her for this also.

This report would be most lacking without reference to Miss Marion Spigener who has taught in the Music Department for so many years. This year she was honored for her considerable achievement by being elected the Handicapped Woman of the year by District Five of Pilot International. This is an honor to our school as well inasmuch as District Five comprises the entire State of South Carolina.

Some of our very best material, musically speaking, was lost this year through graduation and it will be some time before the loss can be replaced.

REPORT OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND CEDAR SPRING DISTRICT OFFICE

Continuation of the cooperative venture of the South Carolina Commission for the Blind and the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind to provide Vocational Rehabilitation Services to the blind and visually handicapped students at Cedar Spring has reached one hundred, fourteen students during this second complete academic year. A highlight of this years services was a Techniques of Daily Living Class designed to acquaint the students with opportunities, problems, and solutions of routine day-to-day situations which he will confront in the environment of responsible adult life. Also, this year saw the first off campus training program for Cedar Spring students. Two young men, under the sponsorship of this agency, successfully completed a massage training program at the Spartanburg Y.M.C.A.

Mr. James V. Smith came to the Cedar Spring Rehabilitation Facility this year to teach orientation and mobility. Mr. Smith worked with eight children covering areas from campus orientation to cane techniques to independent downtown travel.

Also, this year, twenty students from Cedar Spring will participate in a summer Camp and Adjustment to Blindness Program while seven students will participate in a Pre-College Preparatory Program.

REPORT OF THE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION FACILITY FOR THE DEAF

The program of Vocational Rehabilitation through the Cedar Spring Facility has completed its third year of operation and we have been most encouraged by the reports of our past years' work.

The primary purpose of our program here at Cedar Spring is the total medical, psychological, social, educational and vocational evaluations of all graduating students. These evaluations, together with guidance and counseling help the students arrive at a feasible vocational objective that is in keeping with his or her capabilities, interests and desires whether it be additional vocational training, attendance at a college or direct job placement.

In addition to our Workshop on campus, actual on-the-job exposure and training is utilized in the surrounding community. During the school year of 1970-71, ten seniors were provided with off campus work experiences. These supplementary evaluations are of great value to the students in that it gives them first hand knowledge of what a job requires, how to get along with others, learning and accepting responsibility and acquiring independence.

After a student graduates from the South Carolina School for the Deaf, all the information that has been gathered by the Vocational Rehabilitation Facility together with specific vocational recommendations are sent to the Vocational Rehabilitation office in the students home town and services are followed through with and completed.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Department has recently appointed one counselor in each of the state's 15 offices to serve as a consultant for the deaf and hard of hearing in that area. This will enable the Vocational Rehabilitation Department to have a closer relationship with the deaf community and in developing job opportunities from prospective employers.

A conference was held in April 1971 in cooperation with the South Carolina School for the Deaf for the purpose of giving the Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors some information that would help them in their work with the deaf. The deaf community was well represented at this meeting and offered many suggestions. Since the meeting was considered a success in terms of training, it may well become an annual event and expanded to include two or three day programs.

During the course of the year it has become evident that a speech training program should be developed for those students that have speech and could improve their communication skills. Vocational Rehabilitation, the Spartanburg Speech and Hearing

Clinic and the South Carolina School for the Deaf have agreed jointly to begin a program of speech training, auditory training and speech reading during the school year 1971-72. The students will be screened and those with potential will receive instruction on the campus of the South Carolina School for the Deaf. This will, hopefully, lead to a full time employee on the school staff as speech instructor. This program will be an integral part of the students educational, vocational and personal needs and should provide a foundation for future interaction in the social and vocational world.

Our goal of providing whatever services are necessary to allow the deaf individual to realize his maximum vocational potential and to follow through and see that he obtains it is ultimate. Based on the experiences of the past, it is inevitable that our staff will increase to be in a position to provide even a greater range of vocational Rehabilitation services with the end result being that the deaf and hard of hearing are substantially and gainfully employed.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL WORKER

During this school year, planning for both daily and weekend transportation has been given priority. Daily transportation from Greenville and Spartanburg has proved satisfactory. The school has received many requests from parents for both daily and weekend transportation in other areas.

In order to best serve the interests of children and parents, daily transportation has been planned for Clinton, Union and Gaffney, which will begin in January, 1972. When these three cities have been provided with daily buses, our number of day students will be increased by at least 50 children.

Earlier this year, parents and staff were disappointed when plans for weekend homegoing failed to materialize, due to many reasons. However, at this time, we are very pleased with a pilot project for weekend transportation that will begin in September, 1971. It is hoped that this is the first step in planning for all of the children to be with their families on weekends.

REPORT OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS

A three day workshop for child care staff began the 1970-71 school year. The workshop was conducted by a consultant of the Group Child Care Consultant Services of the University of North Carolina. All members of the child care staff participated.

In February a consultant from the Group Child Care Consultant Services was on campus for two days, meeting with students, child care staff and others. Significant recommendations were made in his written report of the consultative visit.

Community interest in the school continued to increase during the year. Many invitations were accepted from churches, civic organizations and individuals.

Beginning in March the Mental Health Clinic provided a qualified recreation worker for out of school time. He worked with approximately 140 students.

During the year, one outside basketball court and one combination basketball-tennis court were constructed. This provided badly needed facilities.

At the close of the year it was concluded that the two areas that demanded immediate attention are training for child care staff and recreation.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF THE VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

During the school year 1970-1971 new areas of instruction in printing-Graphic Arts were made possible through Federal Funds for Vocational Education. Our Off-Set Printing was expanded through the purchase of a large Off-Set Press, complete Dark Room Facilities and support equipment. Some few visually handicapped students will be scheduled for the printing-Graphic Arts Classes during the coming school year. The majority of the students will still be deaf.

A course of instruction in Small Engine Repairs began during the school year in the Industrial Arts area.

Vocational education for the blind was offered in the following fields: Massage, Typing, Dictaphone, Piano Tuning, Home Economics and Crafts.

Vocational education for the deaf was offered in the following areas: Photography, Printing-Graphic Arts, Wood Shop-Furniture Refinishing, Textiles, Home Economics, Arts and Crafts, Brickmasonry, Typing, IBM Card Punch, Small Engine Repair, Driver's Training and Barbering.

Through continued efforts on behalf of Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors, the Counselor for the Commission for the Blind and our local school officials, employment and further training has been made possible for most of our seniors in several different vocations.

REPORT OF THE HOUSE DIRECTOR

Continued progress has been exercised by the well organized staff in this department.

Previously posted schedules enabled the staff to begin work immediately upon arrival. Staff meetings were held frequently to discuss ways to save time and man hours, to teach floor care, to discuss and acknowledge any problems that may have arisen in this department.

The appearance of Spring Hall and Annex was improved by the purchase of 144 bedspreads. Each dormitory receives new spreads every four years.

A television was purchased for Walker dormitory, and two portable sewing machines were purchased for use by the students and house parents.

Numerous window shades have been placed throughout the campus, fifteen folding beds added to help with the housing of guests, needed shelves installed in the storage room, and a new floor machine replaced the old one at Spring Hall.

The laundry staff, consisting of eight employees, are still producing the same good quality of work for well over five hundred students and staff in four days per week. The students and the house parents help to maintain cleanliness throughout the campus.

REPORT OF THE DIETITIAN

This report covers my fourteenth year as Dietitian of this school. This has been a very busy, not too eventful year; but one of rapid change. The regular Dietary program of the past year was carried out in conjunction with plans for an entirely new program in 1971-72.

As the enrollment expands so must the feeding program be revised. No new equipment was bought this year because of the plans for a new central kitchen now under construction. All end of the year inventories are complete.

The social highlights of the year were homecoming, Rotary luncheon, Blind Alumni Banquet, Athletic Banquet, and the Junior-Senior Prom. There were also the usual parties, picnics, and small dinner parties. All of our kitchens are operating under "A" certificates.

The splendid cooperation from the other departments helped to make this a good year for us in the Dietary Department.

REPORT OF THE NURSE IN CHARGE—INFIRMARY

Beginning July 1, 1970, the South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind was licensed to operate Smith infirmary as an institutional minimum nursing care facility. To meet State Board requirements it was necessary to add two LPNs to the staff.

Dr. D. L. Smith, Jr. is in charge of all health facilities and works closely with the Vocational Rehabilitation and Blind Commission in making recommendations concerning the physical welfare of the students.

Dr. Tommy Kelly resigned effective June 1, 1970. Dr. Richard Jabbour became school dentist for the school term of 1970-71. He checked, filled and extracted teeth of the students referred to him by the staff.

In September tuberculin tests were given by the Health Department to those students and personnel having a negative test in May, 1970. Those tested at that time were considered contacts of the teacher diagnosed as having active tuberculosis.

Flu vaccine was given to all students except those whose parents asked that it not be given and to all personnel requesting it. All children twelve years and younger, with a written permission from parents or guardian, were given rubella vaccine. All first year students who had not had basic immunizations of measles, mumps, D.T. and polio received this during the year.

We had 407 admissions to the Infirmary and two students were hospitalized at the Spartanburg General Hospital. We had no critical illnesses during the year and no measles or mumps. We also had the usual number of fractures and lacerations.

This has been a busy and successful year at Smith Infirmary.
